

Intellectual Property

Our intellectual property attorneys can help you understand, identify, manage, protect and realize the value of your intellectual property. We work hard to give our clients the best and most cost-effective counsel that meets their particular needs and objectives.

Our clients include software and technology companies, large nonprofits and family foundations, creative and marketing agencies, retail and e-commerce businesses, consumer products companies, professional service providers, artists, authors and musicians. We work with our clients on large and small transactions, including IP audits, state and federal registrations, patent prosecution, licensing agreements, business deals and contracts, and enforcement.
