

Intellectual Property

Our intellectual property attorneys can help you identify, organize, protect and maximize the value of intellectual property, including copyrights, trademarks and trade secrets. We work hard to give our clients the smartest and most cost-effective counsel that meets their needs and objectives.

Our clients include tech companies, creative and marketing agencies, retail and e-commerce businesses, consumer products companies, non-profits, professional service providers, artists and entertainers, authors, producers, and musicians. We work with them on large and small IP transactions, including state and federal registrations, licensing agreements, content deals, joint ventures and other business relationships, and can bring enforcement actions when our clients' IP rights are violated or challenged.
