Best & Flanagan litigators are not only strong advocates in the courtroom, but also practical problem solvers when it comes to disputes that can be resolved before litigation even starts.

Jennifer Olson is a trial attorney who focuses her practice on complex business and commercial litigation. She represents companies and individuals in business lawsuits nationwide. Jennifer has represented clients in matters involving a diverse array of legal issues, including class actions, shareholder disputes, employment claims, contract disputes, business torts, and probate litigation. She develops creative legal solutions that help her clients effectively resolve disputes and achieve their business goals.

Jennifer also provides pro bono legal services with Advocates for Human Rights, representing clients in immigration and asylum matters. She has been recognized as an Up & Coming Attorney by Minnesota Lawyer and as a Rising Star by Super Lawyers.
